Omnis Ready 2 Go

Starter kit

Vanderbilt Omnis is a security system with unique features integrating intrusion detection, access control, video surveillance and fire detection.

The system is targeted at companies and organizations that require full control of its security. With Vanderbilt Omnis you have the possibility to centrally monitor one or several properties without any geographical limitations.

The system includes all the tools needed in a modern security system with possibility to monitor, affect and follow up everything security related. In addition there are many other included features such as general real estate control functions and hold-up.

One of many advantages with Vanderbilt Omnis is that you never outgrow your system. It is totally modular which means that one can start with a smaller installation with just a few functions and at a later stage gradually expand.
